Professor Biplob Barman
CSEP
The University of Michigan-Flint

Dear Dr. Barman:

Congratulations! On behalf of the Office of Research and the Research and Creative Activity Committee (RCAC) at the UM-Flint, it is my pleasure to notify you that your RCAC application was successful. The Committee has awarded the full request of $15,773.00 to support your project entitled Instrumentation of high resolution optical techniques for semiconductor research.

Our office will arrange to have the awarded funds transferred to your department once we receive notice of your acceptance. In addition, we must verify that your PEERRS certifications are current. You will then be notified when the funds are available.

Within 60 days of the end of the project, the InfoReady system (<https://umflint.infoready4.com>) will send reminders for you to upload a brief report (no longer than one page) to the Office of Research. The final report should include information on:

- 1) The work completed on the project relative to study aims enumerated in the original proposal;
- 2) The relationship between the original timetable and the completion of study aims;
- 3) A description of any scholarly products (publications, documents, datasets, etc.) resulting from the project;
- 4) And, any information on the larger impacts of the work for students or colleagues, the scholarly distinction of UM-Flint, or public engagement between the university and the communities it serves.

If you are unable to complete the project within the proposed project period, you may seek authorization for a no-cost extension. Approval will be granted only for an extension of one year from the original project end date (unless there are documented circumstances beyond the investigator's control).

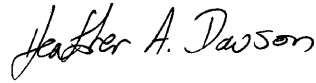

Should your grant and associated activities result in scholarly publications, the University of Michigan-Flint and the Office of Research should be acknowledged.

Congratulations, and thank you for your contribution to research and creative endeavors of the University of Michigan-Flint. Please do not hesitate to contact the Office of Research if you have any questions about the award or its implementation.

Yours sincerely,

Ken Sylvester
